

LOCAL HUNS SEE FREEDOM THROUGH WAR

News from the front is being awaited with keen interest by local Austrians and Hungarians. So many of those residing in Bridgeport have relatives and friends in the old country that all news, regardless of its meagerness, is hailed with interest by them. None of those living in this city have received any mail to denote the extent of the hostilities, nor the number of their countrymen who are being sacrificed for the war.

Several have received post cards, or short letters, but nothing to indicate how the strife is affecting their Fatherland is contained in them. There is considerable difference in the manner in which the news is being awaited by the Hungarians and Austrians.

The Austrians hold an intense patriotic spirit for their Fatherland. They want to see them leave the field with flaming colors of victory. So closely have the Austrians been associated with the Germans that they believe that the present conflict, in which Germany came to the support of Austria-Hungary when Prince Ferdinand, her apparent, was shot down by the fanatic in Serbia, is the culmination of many grievances, which Serbia has thrust upon their Fatherland.

Like the Austrians, the Hungarian residents of the city await eagerly news of the front. They too want to see Austria-Hungary come out victorious, but they have another wish which they hope to see fulfilled before the present war is brought to a close. They want to see coming from the gates of the present war, Hungary, bearing a separate head, and the old flag. Many believe that this is possible.

Because of the intense sympathies that are being received of the activity of the Austro-Hungarian troops, many of Bridgeport's Hungarian residents believe that the people of Hungary are already taking steps for the establishment of a government, separate from Austria, and free from the indignities which they believe Austria has thrust upon them by the German influence in the country.

The death of Prince Ferdinand was a severe blow to both Hungary and Bohemia. Prince Ferdinand in order to possess the wife who was assassinated at the same time, had given up hope of his children succeeding him. He had striven to secure for both Hungary and Bohemia much needed relief. Because of this he was beloved by them and the news of his death created deep feeling throughout the two countries. But they did not feel the same sympathy that was held by Austria. Though there was the greatest blow, they preferred sooner than to avenge the death with the aid of the Austrians to allow it to go into the annals of history unavenged.

Even in this country, the death of Prince Ferdinand was learned with respect, and in many cases, menial respect was held in his memory by his countrymen.

At the present time in Bridgeport, the Hungarians in general, believe that the Hungarians and Bohemians of the old country have combined, and are making a last strike for freedom of country and of language. There are several Slavonic peoples in the Austro-Hungarian empire, and it is known that their sympathies are with the allies and not with Germany and Austria in the present conflict.

What increases this belief are reports that have been received in local circles announcing the shooting of several Bohemian and Hungarian regiments who, it was feared, might turn against the Hungarians in time of battle. As to the truth of these reports, local Hungarians are loath to believe, but should they be, they declare nothing will be able to hold the fierce fighting spirit of these peoples in check when the news would be received.

Should these two peoples combine and strike simultaneously for their independence, nothing will be able to save the present Austro-Hungarian government, in their opinion. They would also secure a free, several other Slavonic peoples, races that are under the rule of the government, and with this combined strength the Austro-Hungarian government would be at an end.

Local Hungarians say that they do not desire to return to the old country for service. Many prominent in local circles declare that they would be the last to subscribe for the purpose of assisting Austria in her present struggle. But at any time, Hungary should need either soldiers or money in a struggle for independence, it would be immediately forthcoming. The action of many who are upon the reserve list, in registering at the consulate is easily accounted for by local Hungarians. Should they call to register, property which they own in the old country would be confiscated and should they ever return to the Fatherland they would be cast into prison. In some cases failure to register, would result in the government confiscation of property of relatives still residing there.

While many Hungarians in this city registered with the New York consul, none have gone to the old country, and should a general call be issued for volunteers, it is not thought that many would respond.

The Polish residents of this city do not think that Poland would take service under the German flag. Many of them now residing in this city, while holding but little patriotism for Russia, believe that rule under Germany would prove as unwelcome as it has under the Russian standard. Because of this, but little credence is placed in recent reports, in which it was stated that Poles had accepted service under the German flag. Many believe it means the future supremacy of either the Teutonic or Slavic races in Europe.

Still less credence is given the report received some time ago that Russia has guaranteed Poland her liberty should she go to the support of Russia in the present conflict.

Local Poles are anxious to see the liberation of Poland, which for many years, has been continually fighting to secure independence. In recent years this feeling has grown, until at the present time, Poles of this country believe that before the present war terminates Poland will have made her strike for liberty, but not with the aid of any opposing nation. Local Poles declare that large numbers would leave America to fight for the freedom of Poland.

ECZEMA BLOTCHES ITCHED SEVERELY

On Face. So Bad at Night Could Hardly Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Two Weeks Trouble Gone.

28 Gooding St., Pawtucket, R. I.—"My face broke out in eczema blotches which itched severely. They were deep red and I could not keep from scratching it at night. It seemed as if I would scratch my face to pieces and they itched so at night I could hardly sleep. I tried different creams and ointments but instead of getting better it seemed worse. After a month I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The itching was so much relieved that I kept on and after two weeks the trouble was gone." (Signed) Miss Ellen S. Whitaker, Jan. 31, 1914.

Men, Did You ALL Get One of Those $8.50 to $12 Suits at $5?

If not, you're missing a chance that doesn't come every day. Here's the way one customer compared them to others he had seen at $10. When he looked at the quality and workmanship—and the way these garments fit—he exclaimed: "Geel! So and so" (naming a store) ought to get a look at these suits. Why, those they showed me at $10 can't touch these in either quality or fit."

You'll say the same thing, if you've seen the others referred to.

We want you to think only of these remarkable suits at $5. We want to impress upon you the fact that this is something you don't see often. The suits will convince you when you get here, but no matter what we might say in print you can't fully appreciate the opportunity by reading about it.

Actual $8.50, $10, and $12 Suits
